

University of Minnesota | Urban Forestry Outreach & Research Lab

Become a MN Tree Care Advisor Volunteer!

Do you love trees and shrubs? Are you interested in making a positive impact in your community?

Who we are

The Minnesota Tree Care Advisor Program helps develop environmentally-focused members through education and volunteerism. Tree Care Advisor volunteers provide communities support to enhance our urban and community trees and forests.

Tree Care Advisors are dedicated to volunteerism and improving the urban and community forests of Minnesota. Once trained and certified, volunteers identify opportunities in their community and tailor their skills and interests to create avenues for positive change. They may conduct workshops, help prepare proposals, or answer tree-related questions from the public. Opportunities abound!

If this sounds like fun, the MN Tree Care Advisor Program could be the place for you!

Launch your adventure

The 9-part Core Course training series is led by UMN staff. It provides research- and science-based training in a variety of tree-centered theories and practices. Participants build a strong foundation of knowledge through a mixture of presentations, discussions, assignments, and hands-on learning opportunities.

Weekly online classes from Tuesday, March 26th through Tuesday, May 14th. Plus an in-person training day on the St. Paul Campus!

Registration: $200 (Discounts available for AmeriCorps members and anyone for which cost is a barrier.)

Discover more and register at mntca.umn.edu/tree-care-advisor

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Minnesota Tree Care
Advocate Program